than that the run off this your was for worse than at my in history, for the engineers who figured on utilizing the the alternative of singling down. Nevertheless they have found the flow inadequate to their wants and the whole northern end of the state outside the Truckee district finds itself eve-pelled to pinch along with a few lights and without any power for operating wills or mines. Winnemueca reports the lowest water supply in the in desperate need of rains to replenish their water supplies. Tonopah has the flow that only needed a little more work on the wells to meet the increased demands from the population doubled by the Divide boom. While all surface streams have suffered through a diminished flow, there does not appear to have been any contraction in the underflow. This should suggest to the state engineering department the necessity for interesting the government in a thorough survey of the potential wealth that flows beneath our arid soil. It may be cited as an example that the only unfailing source. of supply in Nevada today is the source from which Tonopah draws. where the storm waters of winter, autumn and spring are stored away in the purifying sands of the gravel deposits. MAY DEMONETIZE GOLD.

The money kings are planning to turn another trick. They unblushingly recognize the truth of the contention of silver men of 1896 that more money means higher prices by attributing the present high prices to the increased volume of currency. Almost daily now the news dispatches carry news-of action in congress looking to "deflation of the currency." The same interests which demonetized silver and presented its remonetization are getting ready to fleece the lamb, to skin the suckers again while the press of the silver producing states seems utterly oblivious. That veteran and valient warrior of the gilver fight the Salt Lake Tribune, hero of a hundred joints and better lance never tilted, recently printed a letter from London showing the propaganda is on.

The article advocates the exportation of gold to barbarous and semi-harharous countries where it will be melted and retired from circulation. The article purports to be written by Floyd Macgriff. ennow Scott no doubt, described as "International News Service Staff Carrespondent," the discredited Hearst organization forbidden access to Britein during the war, and now, doubtless, paying part of the price of reinstatement. If the people do not wake up, another and a greater "crime of 73" will be as stealthily perpetrated. The price of silver is being purposely kept down by concerted government action simply to please and profit England. All sorts of plant are being devised to drive gold out of circulation. Some American bankers have been bold enough to announce an unwelcome greeting when large imports of gold have been received. Too much money is said to be a danger. Our self-constituted financial guardians are afraid we will all become prodigal, that we will all have limousines, yachts and disport ourselves in one-piece bathing suits on the sands of some northern sea in summer and of some Floridian palm bench in winter. They want to protect us from such an unhallowed dissipation and continue to sacrifice themselves as the only participants in these corrupt extravagances,

They know that wealth corrupts good manners and are determined to protect the masses from evil communications. They are resolved that the poor man shall be able to the Kingdom no matter case every cooling Sunday exceeded, by the Tonorah Bosanza Printing what happens to the rich man or the camel. They will save our souls though it busts our pockets.
